DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because there are two paragraphs. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Futakuchiya et al (US 6,180,931).

Futakuchiya shows the metal heater with a metal plate made of aluminum-copper alloy.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wang et al (US 2001/0035403).

Wang shows the metal heater having a plurality of metal plates, the heater having the thickness of 1 in, which is approximately 25 mm, the surface flatness of .0005 in, which is approximately 12 micron, a heating element interposed between the plates. However, Wang does not explicitly disclose that the outer rim of a region where heating element is formed is at a position within 25% of the diameter of the plate.

Wang shows the heating element configuration wherein the heating element substantially covers the entire region of the heating plate. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to adapt Wang with the claimed outer rim to substantially cover the heating plate so that its entire heating plate is sufficiently heated to provide a heating surface.

7. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wang as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Bremer (US 3,110,795) or Futakuchiya et al (US 6,180,931).

Wang shows the heater claimed except the thickness of the metal plate on the heating side is the same or smaller than that of the metal plate opposite on the heating face side.

Bremer shows that it is known in the art to provide two similar metal plates with a heating element provided there-between to form a metal heater, and Futakuchiya also shows a metal heater having a plurality of metal plates with a metal plate on the heating side having a thickness smaller than that of the opposite side.

Art Unit: 3742

In view of Bremer or Futakuchiya, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to adapt Wang with the metal plate on the heating side having a smaller thickness to allow a rapid heat transfer to its heating surface.
